NOTED NEGRO EDUCATOR PASSES AWAY FOUR HOURS AFTER REACHING HOME FROM NEW YORK; HIS WISH "TO DIE IN SOUTH" BEING GRATIFIED.

AUSTRIA TAKES RESPONSIBILITY

Official Statements From Teutons and Italians Widely Different—Out of 507 Passengers and Crew, Indications Are Only 299 Were Saved From the Vessel.

By the Associated Press.

Tuskegee, Ala., Nov. 14.—Booker T. Washington, the noted negro educator and founder of Tuskegee institute, died of a nervous breakdown early today at his home here, four hours after his arrival from New York.

The negro leader had been in failing health for several months but his condition became serious only last week while he was in the east. He realized the end was near but was determined to make the long trip south to bear out his oft-expressed statement that he had been "born in the south, have lived all my life in the south and expect to die and be buried in the south."

He reached his home last midnight and died at 4:40 o'clock this morning. Specialists who had examined Washington said he was suffering from nervous breakdown and hardening of the arteries.

He is survived by his widow, three children and four grandchildren. His brother, John H. Washington, is superintendent of industries at Tuskegee institute.

The funeral will be held at Tuskegee institute Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Washington was born in slavery near Hale's Ford, Va., in 1857 or 1858. After the emancipation of his race he moved with his family to West Virginia. He was an ambitious boy and saved his money for an education. When he was able to scrape together sufficient funds to pay his state fare to Hampton, Va., he entered General Armstrong's school for negroes there and worked his way through an academic course, graduating in 1875. Later he became a teacher in the Hampton institute, where he remained until 1881, when he organized an industrial school for negroes at Tuskegee. He remained principal of this school up to the time of his death.

The institute started in a rented church and today it owns 3500 acres of land in Alabama and has nearly 100 buildings valued at half a million dollars.

Washington won the sympathy and support of the leading southerners by a speech in behalf of his race at the Cotton States exposition in Atlanta in 1895. Of undoubted ability and breadth of vision, his sane leadership enabled him to accomplish more for and among the negroes of the United States than any negro of his time.

In addition to his prominence as an educator, Washington gained considerable popularity with the public. He received an honorary degree of master of arts from Harvard university in 1896 and was given an honorary degree of doctor of laws by Dartmouth college in 1901.

An incident of Washington's career made him a figure of national prominence during the administration of President Roosevelt. He sat down to lunch with the president at the white house either by formal or informal invitation. There was a storm of protest, particularly from the south, but in spite of the resulting hostility shown toward him by many white persons, Washington continued to exert a widespread influence toward the betterment of his people.

SUMMARY OF WAR

By the Associated Press.

The Italian government up to the present has confined itself, in respect to the sinking of the steamer Ancona, to dispatching a note to the neutral governments denying that the Ancona carried arms or contraband or was on board any person in a military service or of the belligerent countries, or that there were any circumstances justifying the attack as a necessity of war.

The note further declares that the Ancona was not warned, but that she was fired upon by the submarine and that boats in which the passengers were attempting to escape were fired on, many persons killed or wounded in this way.

The Austro-Hungarian admiral, on the other hand, has issued a statement announcing that the Ancona had been warned by one shot across her bows, but that she fled at full speed. When the vessel finally stopped, which was "only after being hit several times" the admiral states the submarine allowed forty-five minutes for the crew and passengers to escape. Dennis is the Ancona's lifeboats, such reports being characterized as "mendacious inventions."

Where Serbians Are Fighting Desperately

Until the Austro-German invaders forced the Serbians into their mountain fastnesses they made good progress, but since that time they have had to fight hard from every foot of ground. The above picture shows the character of the country in which the gallant defenders are now giving a good account of themselves.

SERBIANS INFlicting LOSSES ON PURSUERS

BULGARIANS CALL ON AUSTRO-GERMANS FOR AID IN BATTLE AT KATCHANIK PASS.

Greek Political Situation is Grave. Russians on Offensive Along Diving River.

By the Associated Press.
London, Nov. 14.—The Serbians are falling back from mountain range to mountain range before the advance of the Austro-German forces, whose official reports enumerate the capture of 1,000 or more prisoners daily, a few guns and quantities of stores. The Serbians are fighting continuously, however, and are inflicting considerable losses on their pursuers.

Along the eastern front the Serbians appear to be holding their own against the Bulgarians and are making a stand on the western bank of the Morava river. So stubborn has been their resistance, the Bulgarians have had to call for assistance from the Austro-German artillery in their effort to drive the defenders out of Katchanik Pass. Thus far they have been unsuccessful.

The British and French troops which are receiving reinforcements are meeting with some success and besides repulsing the Bulgarian attacks have undertaken small offensive movements with good results. The Austro-Germans and Bulgarians, however, made such progress from the beginning of the campaign that it will take serious work now to check them.

For the moment the political situation is graver than the military. The central powers are attempting to force Greece against the landing of allied troops at Saloniki. King Constantine is reported to have replied that as Saloniki is an open port there has been no infringement of Greek rights in the landing and that Greece will remain neutral until one of the belligerents has transgressed against those rights. France and Italy, who has now joined their allies by sending a warship to Saloniki, are particularly anxious as to the attitude of Greece.

Officially are so completely in the dark, however, as to the facts that they would not hazard tonight any predictions as to whether or not the case would become an international incident of grave importance. If it should develop that the ship was sunk by a German submarine it was regarded as probable that the entire submarine controversy might assume renewed seriousness. Assumption of responsibility by the Austrian government would lead, it is believed, to diplomatic exchanges to prevent recurrence of danger to Americans.

AUSTRIAN SUBMARINE ATTACKER.

By the Associated Press.
Berlin, Nov. 14.—By Wireless to (Sayville)—The Austro-Hungarian admiralty today officially announced that the Italian steamship Ancona attempted to escape at full speed after warning shot had been fired across her bow and that the vessel only stopped after being shelled several times by an Austrian submarine, says the Overseas News agency.

The submarine commander, it is further asserted, allowed the Ancona's passengers and crew 45 minutes to abandon ship, after which the vessel was torpedoed, sinking three-quarters of an hour later. The report that the submarine fired on the lifeboats is denied.

The statement issued by the Austro-Hungarian admiralty after declaring that the foreign press had spread false rumors regarding the Ancona incident, says the sinking took place as follows:

"The submarine fired one shot in front of the Ancona's prow, whereupon the steamer fled at full speed in accordance with the order issued by the Charges of Superior That Other Demerits Were Cause of Removal Denied—Correspondence in Regard to Matter Are Made Public by Man Losing Position.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 14.—A statement was issued at the white house tonight saying that the action of Postmaster A. M. Kloepfer at Winnetka, Ill., in removing his assistant from office because he criticised President Wilson's engagement to be married was taken "without the authority or knowledge of the president."

Published reports brought the incident to the attention of white house officials today and at the same time it was learned that the dismissed assistant postmaster, George Burkitt, had vainly appealed to the postoffice department to overrule his superior.

Postmaster Kloepfer, according to published correspondence, called upon Burkitt to explain a remark credited to him that the president should wait at least a year before remarrying.

Burkitt admitted making the statement in the course of a general conversation in the postoffice, but denied being guilty of any disrespect. Then the postmaster, charging him with disloyalty and calling attention to demerits placed against his record for "unsatisfactory service," asked for resignation.

In appealing to the postoffice department, Burkitt protested that his removal "had been irregular; that no charge of which had been filed against him and that he had been given an opportunity to reply." Daniel C. Roper, third assistant postmaster general, is said to have replied that the civil service laws had been fully complied with.

Mr. Roper when asked about the case tonight said he did not remember it very clearly, but had the impression that matters other than the remarks about the president led to Burkitt's removal. He said he probably will sue a statement tomorrow.

Burkitt Makes Statement.

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—George Burkitt was discharged from his position as assistant postmaster at Winnetka, a suburb on Nov. 4 by Postmaster A. M. Kloepfer, who wrote Burkitt a note giving as a reason "your disloyalty to the president and the very unsatisfactory service which you have been rendering, as evidenced by the demerits which have from time to time been imposed upon you, and numerous other acts of which you are fully aware."

Mr. Burkitt, in making public today the letter he received from A. M. Roper, third assistant postmaster general, is said that there had been no demerits against him. He said there had been two conversations in the postoffice at Winnetka about the president's betrothal. In one, all the clerks were talking of the affair and several had expressed opinions about the subject.

The second incident was later, while he was at the delivery window. Burkitt was a man called and said that the president was going to be married and added, "Did not wait long, did he?" Burkitt said he replied, "Hardly a year," or something of the kind, and adding, "It seems to me that a man ought to wait at least a year before marrying; I don't see why the president should be any exception."

Meant No Disrespect.

Burkitt said that in both instances he made the remarks casually and meant no disrespect to the president.

Postmaster Kloepfer today said that the discharge had been in conformity with the civil service rules and that the department of Washington had upheld the discharge of Burkitt. The letter of Assistant Postmaster General Roper, refusing to reopen the case, was given out by Burkitt as follows:

"With reference to your letter of the 5th inst., relative to your removal from the position of assistant postmaster in the postoffice at Winnetka, Ill., and stating that you had never been furnished with a copy of the charges preferred against you, you are informed that a letter from postmaster dated Oct. 20, calling upon you to submit a written statement within the exact language used by you concerning the president's engagement and your reply of the same date constitute a compliance with the provisions of section 29, postal laws and regulations."

"The papers in your case were very carefully reviewed before final action was taken. Favorable consideration, therefore, cannot be given to your request that the matter be made the subject of a special investigation by a postoffice inspector."

Honeymoon Ends Abruptly When Husband Shoots Self

By the Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 14.—The honeymoon of Wayne H. Gooch, aged 48, capitalist of Clarksville, Va., and his pretty young wife, was abruptly ended early this morning in the drawing room of a Southern Pacific train sleeping car en route east from the Pacific coast, when Gooch shot and killed himself. Mrs. Gooch was asleep in the small compartment and was awakened by the shot. "Mr. Gooch had told me many times that because of worries that he felt like killing himself," Mrs. Gooch said here today. He had been in ill health.

"I was married a month ago today at my home and this is also my birthday," she continued.

"Mr. Gooch knew that my birthday would be today and all of the way he kept telling me, 'Wait till you see what I'm going to give you for your birthday. It'll be a big surprise.'

Mrs. Gooch's eyes filled with tears for the first time since she started her narrative.

CHINESE PROVINCES TO CANVASS VOTES

INDICATIONS ARE MAJORITY FOR NEW CONSTITUTION AND CHANGE TO MONARCHY.

ELECTORATE VERY LIMITED

Interest Now Centers on Next Step of President Yuan Shih Kai of Republic.

By the Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 14.—Next Monday in each of the twenty-three Chinese provinces conventions will assemble to record the decision of the Chinese people upon the two questions upon which they voted at the polls last week, the acceptance of the revised constitution and the submission of a monarchial form of government for the republic.

Reports indicate that an overwhelming majority of the limited electorate favors both the constitution and the monarchy. Interest now centers, therefore, upon the next step which will be taken by President Yuan Shih Kai.

It is expected that very soon some official announcement will come from Peking as to whether the provincial conventions will be permitted to carry out the original plan of sending delegations to a national convention. Recent statements made by the Chinese minister indicate a postponement of the convention until next year.

COVER CROPS TOPIC FOR FIRST MEETING RAILROADS TO GET LARGE INCREASE FOR HANDLING MAIL

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION DEPARTMENT SENDS PROGRAMS OUT TO SCHOOL HOUSES.

OTHER INTERESTING SUBJECTS

Expert Knowledge Furnished in Shape of Printed Answers to Probable Questions.

Special to the Morning News. Austin, Nov. 14.—The program prepared by the University of Texas for the first school house meeting has been sent out, according to information given out at the extension department.

This program deals with the important topic of cover crops in Texas. Some of the questions to be discussed can be answered by progressive local farm leaders, but for others the knowledge of experts is needed. Expert knowledge is furnished by the university extension department in the form of printed answers to these questions, which will be read and discussed at the meeting. In this way all present will get the benefit or all that the community knows and all that the experts know on the subject under discussion.

Other topics will be discussed in a similar way at later meetings which will take place each two weeks at the rural school houses are: How to have a farm garden all the year in Texas; profitable poultry on Texas farms; labor saving devices in the farm home; how to banish diseases from the farm; how to feed the family for health and efficiency; the rural school community library; practical methods of increasing crop production; preservation and marketing of diversified crops; tick and rat eradication; what the rural school can do for the community; what the community can do for the schools.

In addition special programs are prepared for Halloween, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas, Arbor Day, Bird Day, Independence Day, San Jacinto Day and May Day. Programs are also provided for musical evenings with the Victoria and choral singing and plays suggested for amateur theatricals.

In the preparation of some of the programs the university has the co-operation of the A. & M. College and of the state department of agriculture. The knowledge of highly trained experts along nearly all lines will be brought to the doors of the people of Texas by this simple device of distribution through the schools.

Each year these meetings were tried out in over 200 schools and proved so successful that this year requests to send the program to over 4000 schools have already been sent in to the state.

It is hoped that every rural school in Texas will take these meetings as they require absolutely no fees, no organization, and by means of the programs sent out can be run with almost no effort on the part of the teacher.

Dr. A. C. Ellis, director of extension, University of Texas, Austin, Texas, is furnishing details of the plan to many applicants every day.

Big Program This Afternoon.

Cavallo's band and soloists begin scattering the highest class harmonies here in this section of the country at 1 o'clock and continue for two hours. The concert will take place at the coliseum. Then comes the grand baby show. At 1:15 the Meridian and Jacksonville college football teams collide for the secondary class championship of the state. The game will be started on the race track grounds.

From 3 to 5 o'clock the Y. M. C. A. track team meet at the race track will be in motion. Between 4:30 and 6 o'clock the Y. M. C. A. basketball teams will play in the coliseum. Incidentally, the free acts on the War Path beginning at 5 o'clock, should not be overlooked.

Between 6:45 and 7:45 in the evening the Y. M. C. A. volley ball game will be on the boards at the coliseum.

Cavallo's band and soloists will be with a concert. At 7:15 the public wedding and attendant reception starts while at 8 o'clock the Trades ball begins. And—

It should be recollect that between 7:30 and 8:45 everybody on the War Path is expected to wear a mask. A prize will be awarded to the one most attractively disguised. Verily.

Y. M. B. L. and Y. M. C. A. day at the Colton Palace is going to be a day of the Red Letter class.

Special Trains in This Week.

Six special trains are scheduled to bring Cotton Palace visitors into Waco Monday and Wednesday of this week. One will arrive this morning and five will come on Wednesday.

Of the half dozen special the Cotton Belt will run three, the Santa Fe two, and the S. A. & P. one, Meridian, on the Santa Fe, is the first on the list. It is due to arrive this morning with a large and enthusiastic delegation of football fans who will seek to help the Meridian college eleven defeat the Jacksonville college team at the race track grounds during the afternoon. Meridian has declared a holiday and practically the entire city will be here.

On Wednesday the Cotton Belt will bring in two specials from Stephenville, Comanche, Hamilton and intermediate points. It is evident that the Stephenville-Comanche-Hamilton folk liked the Cotton Palace and also the treatment they were accorded last week when they visited the big exposition. At the time of their last visit they made the trip chartered trains. On the same date Cleburne, on the Santa Fe, and Yoakum, on the S. A. & P., will make their triumphant entry and divide honors with the excursionists from other points. All six trains will be met at the station by representatives of the Cotton Palace management, the Y. M. B. L. and Alessandro's band.

Incidentally, Santa Anna Woodmen have chartered a special car which will be attached to the Santa Fe regular train for Thursday. The Santa Anna lodgemens are coming about seventy-five strong and will help other Texas Woodmen observe Woodmen day at the Cotton Palace.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

By the Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 14.—Railroads in the third contract section will receive $20,000,000 a year for carrying mail during the four years beginning July 1 last, under adjustments announced tonight by the postoffice department. This is an increase of more than $4,000,000 over the annual compensation allowed under the adjustments of 1907.

Section 3 is the largest of the four contract divisions established by the department for conveniences and embraces Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, and Mississippi.

The increase in the amount to be paid the roads is due to the increased volume of mail. In some instances where there was competition for the business, companies with the longer mail routes adjusted rates to retain the contract.

The department's announcement said the roads was "good evidence of the unjustice of the often-repeated assertion that the railroads are handling mail at a loss."

The cost of weighing the mails to compute the amount of mail in section three cost $381,948.

Crumley "Fiancee" Sent Back to Chicago

RAIN AND COLD DON'T WORRY BOYS IN CAMP

FULL PROGRAM OF DAY CARRIED OUT AT CAMP SANGER YESTERDAY.

Dip in "Y" Natatorium and Sightseeing Trip Over City One of Features of Day's Program.

The cold wave could not chill the ardor nor the clammy rain dampen the spirits of the boy agriculturists at Camp Sanger at the Cotton Palace yesterday. The boys seemed perfectly happy in their tent homes and carried out their full program. Games, military drills, a lecture and a sightseeing tour were the chief items of the day's schedule. H. H. Williams, state agent of the boys' clubs, and D. S. Stager, secretary of the A. & M. College Y. M. C. A., are in charge of the seventy boys from different points in the state. Boys' scouts, Nat. Hays, Sergeant A. B. Lattimore and Quartermaster G. H. Scott of company K are assisting in camp discipline and arrangements.

"Life from the Boys' Standpoint," an address delivered in the dog show building at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, emphasizing the peace and security of Japan.

Japanese women are pleased by the inclusion in the coronation honors of five women, three of whom are social reformers.

Among the workers who have received decorations is Colonel Yamamoto of the Salvation Army.

The boys spent a lively afternoon beginning with a dip in the natatorium of the Y. M. C. A. as the guests of the association with A. J. Flowers, boys' secretary, as his host. From the "Y" building the boys were carried on a tour of different points in the city, including the Amicable, the city power plant and an ice cream factory.

Ten local Boy Scouts under command of Scoutmaster Nat. Hays and Sergeant L. L. Ladd and Quartermaster Scott of company K received the boys' hearty appreciation of the visiting camp study officials for their great assistance in making the encampment a success. During the rain and cold, the scouts and militiamen worked faithfully to make things snug and comfortable.

The boys sat around oil stoves last evening and were happy and jolly discussing the good times they had had during the day. A splendid menu is being served, the officials declare, and the two concluding days will see the regular programs carried out regardless of weather conditions.

Camp program for today is as follows:

7 a.m. reveille.

7:20 a.m. physical exercises.

7:30 a.m. breakfast and chapel exercises at table.

8:15 a.m. camp duties (picking up).

8:30 a.m. rest period.

10 a.m. "Seed Selection and Grain Judging" D. N. Barrow.

11:15 a.m. "Seed Testing" H. H. Williamson.

MISSISSIPPI MAN OPTIMIST DESPITE LARGE STORM LOSS

R. W. Taylor, superintendent of the Peerless Oyster company, Bay St. Louis, Miss., and prominent in the political activities of that section of the state, arrived in Waco yesterday for a short visit in the city. He is a guest at the home of his brother, Tom G. Taylor, assistant general manager of the Morning News.

"Waco is indicating no signs of a lack of prosperity," said the Mississippi visitor last night. "I understand the Cotton Palace is the most remarkable building in the world, is in greater and more dazzling progress than at any time in its history. They tell me that the paid attendance is more than 30,000 in excess of last year. That suggests not prosperity for Waco, but prosperity for Central Texas, of which immense and productive area Waco is the hub."

"And what is happening to Waco, seemingly is happening in all sections of the South. In our part of the country, although recently devastated by a storm of water and wind, times are good and the conditions most hopeful and encouraging. I have but great sympathy for these folks who insist that hard times are present. There is no such thing as 'hard times' in this part of the country."

Mr. Taylor is one of the most refreshing optimists ever visiting Texas. He declares conditions are favorable and proves it by tangible evidence. He refuses to be otherwise than cheery over the prospects, notwithstanding the fact that his firm lost approximately $100,000—the average man would be inclined to think things were rather dismal if Providence rapped him for a $100,000 loss within the last sixty days.

PERSONAL MENTION.

M. C. Fields, postmaster at Lott, is in the city attending the Cotton Palace.

Frank Orr, traveling passer agent of the L. & G. N., with headquarters at Houston, is in Waco. He arrived yesterday.

Albert Bain of Mexia returned home Sunday after visiting the Cotton Palace as the guest of his brother, L. P. Bain, and other relatives.

Wade Forrest, of the offices of J. W. Evans, president and general manager of the Cotton Belt, Tyler, arrived yesterday for a short visit to the Cotton Palace. He will return home today.

R. J. Hughes, H. H. Dewer, E. B. Neffanger, all of the Texas Light and Power company of Dallas, are in Waco attending to business matters. They arrived yesterday and registered at the State House.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spanneller and baby of Alpine, Texas, arrived yesterday for a visit to the Cotton Palace. They are staying at the Miroplex. Mr. Spanneller formerly was instructor of music at Baylor university. He also was director of the choir at St. Paul's Episcopal church.

By the Associated Press.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 14.—With the arrival of General Alvaro Obregon at Agua Prieta, opposite here, from

Nogales, the Carranza forces began today their active campaign against the army of Gen. Francisco Villa in Sonora.

Leaving a small garrison to hold

Naco, Colonel Cardenas immediately went in pursuit of a Villa column headed by Gen. Jose Rodriguez, who had been operating just below the international boundary near Naco.

After a conference between Generals

Obregon and P. Elias Calles, commander at Agua Prieta, a division of between 4,000 and 5,000 soldiers, with

late today. This force was camped tonight in Anavacachi Pass, twelve miles southwest of hers.

General Rodriguez and his Villa column were seen to be moving toward

Carson. Reports at Agua Prieta indicated that Rodriguez intended to march south through the Sonora river district, one section of Mexico which has seen but little fighting, and which with its large wheat crop and thousands of cattle, would plentifully supply this army.

Peace Being Restored.

By the Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 14.—General Carranza is fast restoring order throughout Mexico and is confident that he soon will conquer Villa and Zapata, according to Eliseo Arredondo, confidential agent of the constitutional government of this country, who arrived here today from a visit to the first chief. After a brief stay here, Mr.

Arredondo plans to return to Washington to resume his duties.

"General Carranza will reach Mexico City at the end of this month and then begin to organize his cabinet and make the necessary governmental appointments," said Mr. Arredondo. The Carranza agent added that the first chief expects to announce soon the appointment of his ambassador to Washington.

"General Carranza is confident," Mr.

Arredondo continued, "that he has the situation well in hand. As a result of his tour he has appointed men of military ability to cope with the lawlessness on the border and feels that they will be able to protect

Mexicans as well as Americans from the dangers of belligerents.

"It is but a question of a few weeks

when General Villa will be conquered. To this end General Figuez is marching with 8,000 men from Hermosillo, while General Calles with 9,000 men is well fortified in Agua Prieta. Both of these men are ready to dispose of General Villa and a small army outside of Mexia City the forces of General Zapata are surrending daily in numbers so he is absolutely of no military significance at present.

Villa troops are also fast rejoining

the ranks of the constitutionalists, indicating that the Mexican people realize that the Carranza government stands for the highest ideals of democracy and independence of Mexico."

General Carranza also has the financial problem well in hand and does not expect any trouble in that direction

the agent added.

Money Changers Profiting.

By the Associated Press.

Laredo, Texas, Nov. 14.—Advices

from Mexico City say money changers

in the capital have recently been reaching enormous profits in exchange of the present system of currency to a gold and silver basis.

This was caused by the circulation of stories to the effect that the present issues of flat currency in the republic which was irredeemable, but at the same time made legal tender by law, would be replaced with a new system of currency, the tender being emissions counterfeited by the United States government.

Previous issues of Carranza money have been printed on ordinary paper qualified by the constitutional government of Mexico. "By decree of February 12, 1914, Chihuahua, Mex." and were easily counterfeited. It has been said there is as much counterfeit money as genuine in circulation in some portions of Mexico. In denominations of less than a dollar, small paper tickets were issued. These were countersigned by a rubber stamp with the signature of each state's governor. They were given the name in some quarters as "milk tickets."

Reports from the capital said that when the rumored change was to be made the new ratio of exchange would be one for two, instead of one for six,

the prevailing ratio. As a result, there is a general instability of the money market and persons have been converting their currency holdings into gold and silver at what would ordinarily be considered an exorbitant rate of

STORAGE OF COTTON.

It is very important, according to the specialists of the United States department of agriculture, that all cotton that is not marketed when ginned should be stored or placed in a position where it will be protected from injury by moisture. Where cotton is exposed to rain it is subject to serious injury; and where it is sheltered but left in contact with the wet ground it is likely to become seriously damaged. It is frequently the case that people do not realize the amount of damage that is done. In many instances cotton appears from the outside of the bale to be in fairly good condition, when it is really badly injured inside, due to the fact that moisture has been allowed to penetrate the bale, thus causing mildew.

It is not unusual, according to the department's data, for cotton to suffer a loss of from $3 to $5 a bale as a result of unnecessary exposure. At all times it should be kept off the ground and properly sheltered. Where it is exposed to rain it is subject to serious injury; and where it is sheltered but left in contact with the wet ground it is likely to become seriously damaged. It is frequently the case that people do not realize the amount of damage that is done. In many instances cotton appears from the outside of the bale to be in fairly good condition, when it is really badly injured inside, due to the fact that moisture has been allowed to penetrate the bale, thus causing mildew.

Just what political effect, if any, the election will have we are unprepared to say at this time. Had the governor remained out of the contest it would doubtless have had none, but as much as he and his friends sought to make it appear that the election was aimed as a direct slap at him and he tried to stem the tide against the saloon, he will have to suffer whatever loss of prestige that will come from having deliberately made himself an issue and lost. The prohibitionists did not try to make the governor an issue in the contest. Indeed, the majority of the pro speakers ignored him in their plea for the abolition of the saloon, for they were not wanting to inject politics into the election, but to vote out the saloon. The election was called before the Texas Anti-Saloon League, against which the governor and some of his lieutenants directed such vitriolic attacks, knew anything about it, and when Dr. Barren, state superintendent of the league, offered the services of that organization to the local committee of the drys informed him that they could take care of the situation by themselves.

Everybody realizes, we take it, that neither the governor nor his friends sincerely felt that the election was an attempt to discredit him, for not until the campaign was in its last stages and the antis saw they were losing did they raise this cry and call for the governor, whom they had been largely instrumental in putting into office, to come to their rescue. They held the governor's participation in the campaign upon this false presumption, as their trump card to be played only if necessary. They played it for all it was worth and lost.

Editors of Texas agree that the Waco hospitality has a brand about it that they thoroughly appreciate. And Waco agrees that the Texas editors have a spirit of co-operation and friendliness about them that is altogether lovely.

Emperor William will have something for which to be grateful Thanksgiving Day even if he doesn't find opportunity to eat turkey in Constantinople. A man who committed suicide in New York the other day left him a legacy of $120.

We have frequently characterized Francisco Villa as a bandit and a villain, and he is both, but the fact that he sent $130,000 in jewelry and United States currency and gold coins across the border for safety in the United States proves that he is not a fool when it comes to looking after the welfare of Villa.

The author of that song, "Hello, Central, Give Me Heaven," wasn't such a fantastic dreamer after all, observes the Boston Transcript.

We have frequently characterized Francisco Villa as a bandit and a villain, and he is both, but the fact that he sent $130,000 in jewelry and United States currency and gold coins across the border for safety in the United States proves that he is not a fool when it comes to looking after the welfare of Villa.

THE BELL COUNTY ELECTION.

By reason of the participation of Governor Ferguson in the local option contest in Bell county the election assumed more than the usual interest over the state and elsewhere, and while we are not prepared to say by what vote the dry forces expected to triumph, the story as told by the returns from the ballot boxes shows a decisiveness in the victory of the temperance advocates which we had hardly anticipated. The victory is all the more welcome from the fact that it is of sufficient size to leave no doubt as to the will of the majority of the people of the county and to give the officers a suggestion as to popular sentiment on the question of law enforcement.

One of the surprises in connection with the result is the complete reversal of form shown since the county, only three years ago, voted wet by more than 100 votes. With a dry victory of approximately 500 on Saturday, the prohibitionists have gained more than 600 votes within the last three years, or an accretion of at least 200 votes a year.

And why this large increase in the temperance forces? Decidedly, the largest factor in it, we are persuaded, was the change in view on the part of a large number of responsible and influential men in Temple and elsewhere in the county who have supported the liquor forces heretofore, but who had become convinced of their error and were with the drys this time. Religious convictions played a part in some of these conversions, and a more careful study of the economic phases of the liquor question was probably the deciding factor in others. Then a number of young men have become of voting age within the last three years and the average young man who has studied, in his physiology, the effects of alcohol upon the human system, is a prohibitionist. And finally, we are persuaded, there were some citizens who resented the action of the antis in bringing Governor Ferguson into the campaign and reasoned that if an attack upon the saloon were a repudiation of the governor, then he deserved to be repudiated.

We understand that the antis deplored the bad weather, saying that it crippled their vote more than that of the pros, but the antis said during the campaign that at least 300 pros of voting age had failed to qualify by paying their poll taxes, so the sentiment of the county is evidently against the continuance of the open saloon in spite of the weather that prevailed on election day.

Just what political effect, if any, the election will have we are unprepared to say at this time. Had the governor remained out of the contest it would doubtless have had none, but as much as he and his friends sought to make it appear that the election was aimed as a direct slap at him and he tried to stem the tide against the saloon, he will have to suffer whatever loss of prestige that will come from having deliberately made himself an issue and lost. The prohibitionists did not try to make the governor an issue in the contest. Indeed, the majority of the pro speakers ignored him in their plea for the abolition of the saloon, for they were not wanting to inject politics into the election, but to vote out the saloon. The election was called before the Texas Anti-Saloon League, against which the governor and some of his lieutenants directed such vitriolic attacks, knew anything about it, and when Dr. Barren, state superintendent of the league, offered the services of that organization to the local committee of the drys informed him that they could take care of the situation by themselves.

MARLIN SHIVERING IN GRIP OF NORTHER

FIVE OR SIX INCHES OF RAIN AND SHOWER OF HAIL RECORDED IN FALLS.

Turkey Crop Expected to Amount to 9,000 Birds—Many Already Shipped.

Special to the Morning News. Marlin, Nov. 14.—Intermittent rains fell throughout Saturday night and at 8 a.m. Sunday the city was in the grip of a stiff norther combined with heavy rain, which resulted in a rainfall of from 5 to 6 inches. A little shower of hail fell at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Turkey Crop Larger.

Special to the Morning News. Marlin, Nov. 14.—The turkey crop of this section of Falls country promises to be considerably larger this year than formerly. About 9,000 birds have been shipped from here during former seasons but farmers estimate that there is at least 25 per cent more this season, which will make the crop total about 90,000. Most of the shipments are to Waco and Bryan packing companies, but some are reported to be considering shipping to Dallas for better prices.

Floor Added to Hospital.

Special to the Morning News. Cuero, Nov. 14.—Open house was indulged in at the J. W. Burns hospital here last night. A third floor has been added and the citizens of the town assisted in the furnishings by equipping the rest room completely.

The new floor cares for the operating room and the ante rooms used in connection, nurses' quarters and rooms for the night shift. The basement is used for the kitchen, dining rooms and heating apparatus, the X-ray room and negro and Mexican quarters. The next two floors are rooms and the office and reception room.

The building is of brick and reinforced concrete construction and is located on a large lot, well back from the street, with beautiful grounds on three sides.

On the opposite side of town, in the south end, is the Salome hospital with Dr. J. H. Reuss at its head. This is also the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railway hospital and is as modern as the building permits. This institution will soon be replaced by a larger and more modern structure of the latest and most equipment.

To Discuss Guadalupe Navigation.

Special to the Morning News. Cuero, Nov. 14.—The Cuero Commercial club will hold a meeting Tuesday night, November 16, at the city hall for the consideration of the project of "Guadalupe navigation."

A delegation from Victoria and the representatives from that section and Cuero who attend the waterway meeting at Houston recently will be heard from.

This meeting is called at the request of President S. C. E. Holland of Victoria, at the head of the Interstate Waterway Commission. Frank P. Samis, one of the members of the waterways committee, has been asked to arrange the Cuero meeting and will have a representative body on hand.

Ground Is Broken for New Building at C. I. A. at Denton

Special to the Morning News.

Denton, Nov. 14.—The breaking of the ground for the two large wings to be added to the academic arts building of the College of Industrial Arts was an impressive ceremony by the residents of Denton and the many college people who participated in the occasion, which was celebrated Thursday afternoon last. Over 800 members of the student body and faculty took part in the celebration. J. N. Raynor, president of the Denton Chamber of Commerce, gave the opening address.

In the ceremony were Misses Ruth Kline of Seabrook, president of the Students' association, and the presidents of the college classes, Misses Nancy Kritzer, Taylor, senior; Miss Rose Ella Braly, Celeste, junior; Miss Katherine High of Roxton, sophomore; Miss Thelma Craven, Benton, Okla., freshman. The preparatory school with its two years was represented by Misses Mary Olaf Roberts, Sanzer, and Fanabel Hull, Carthage, the home-maker class by Miss Edith Baby, Gatesville, and the commercial, irregular and vocational one-year classes by Miss Zelma Zimmerman, College, and Miss Isaac Bell, Benton, Okla. Also a large eleventh connecting all four floors.

The two wings for which the ground was broken at this time will cost $87,900 and will mean the addition of about twenty-four class rooms, a splendid library of 80x48 feet, seventeen offices for teachers and directors of departments, business offices, store rooms, rooms for students, and a room in college press work, and the Y. W. C. A. Also a large elevator connecting all four floors.

The addition, as well as a new dormitory and dining hall, were granted the college by the past legislature and represent a greater investment in permanent improvements than had been made by all other legislatures since the establishment of C. I. A. as the state college for women in 1903.

Lotto to Have Military Company.

Special to the Morning News. Lotto, Nov. 14.—An active movement is now going on to give out a first-class military company. Charles F. Anderson, E. J. Daffin, Will Blackwell, Jack Storey and others have charge of securing members and just about have the required number of signers.

Mayor O. R. Porterfield is giving his hearty co-operation not only as an official, but has "signed up" and will be one of the boys. He has put in his application for the position of "disbursing officer."

A mass meeting has been called to meet at the fire hall Monday night, when officers will be elected, and it is hoped organization will be completed.

MANY SURPRISES ON EASTERN GRIDIRONS

YALE'S DEFEAT OF STRONG PRINCETON TEAM ONE OF FEATURES OF SEASON.

Overwhelming of Colgate by Syracuse Makes One Less Championship Contender.

By the Associated Press. New York, Nov. 14.—Football form upheavals continue to feature the eastern gridiron season now rapidly drawing to a close. In the week-end games, Yale in desperation at the many smaller college teams which have defeated the Blue this fall, turned on Princeton and ripped apart the best football machine developed in Tigerland in many years.

At Syracuse the undefeated and un-scored on Colgate eleven was overwhelmed by the Syracuse University eleven, while the Cornell combination out-scored itself from defeat at the hands of Washington and Lee by a great tally in the closing half of the contest after the Southerners had gained a long lead. Brown, which recently beat Yale, succumbed to Harvard.

Another gridiron classic in many years has furnished the football upset that marked the playing of the annual game between Yale and Princeton. The Eli's uncovered a remarkable improvement after less than two weeks of coining under Shevlin and swept the Tigers off their feet.

While the defeat of Princeton had no bearing on the struggle for the so-called eastern championship, the overthrow of Colgate by Syracuse removed the last remaining contender and left the field occupied solely by Cornell and Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania and Michigan battled to a scoreless tie in which the Wolverines showed fine football knowledge and lack of strength to score with it, while the Quakers had power and drive which went for naught owing to their poor generalship and lack of scoring strategy.

Both Army and Navy teams emerged victorious from their week-end games but neither was called upon to face an opponent of more than ordinary caliber. The soldiers made the better showing of the two service elevens, shutting out Maine, while the sailors found Colby a harder proposition.

Baylor Win Surprise to Football Experts

By the Associated Press.

Kansas City, Nov. 14.—Victories of Oklahoma and Nebraska, clinching for them the championships of their respective associations, rendered the season's games here to decide the football championship of the entire southwest. Oklahoma yesterday won a clear title to premier honor in the Southwestern Athletic association by defeating Arkansas 29 to 6, the Sooners previously having taken the measure of Texas. Nebraska was conceded to be the best football team in the Missouri Valley following their crushing defeat of Kansas 33 to 0.

Besides the two games for titular honors, Southwestern gridirons last week furnished more games of wide interest than is usual two weeks from Thanksgiving. Chief of these, perhaps, were the intersections of Texas and Alabama, in which the Longhorns added another shut-out victory to their splendid season's record. Alabama was defeated 20 to 0, the second team from the south east to succumb to the Sooner and stymie the Austin club. Sewanee previously having met defeat at the hands of the Longhorns.

The largest surprise of the week was the showing of the against Oklahoma A. & M. Baylor was defeated by the Oklahoma Farmers 60 to 0 last year, but turned the tables on their conquerors in the fourth period of yesterday's game, winning by a score of 12 to 6.

Other records of the week included Texas Christian University 21, Southwestern 6; Daniel Baker 6, Southern Methodist University 30; Dallas U. 6, Southeastern Normal of Oklahoma 34; Ouachita 34, Henderson Brown 7; Oklahoma School of Mines 6, Hendrix College 6; Henry Kendall 43, Ada (Okla.) Normal 3.

KENEDY 34, RUNGE 0.

Special to the Morning News.

Kenedy, Nov. 14.—The Kenedy public school football team played a game Friday afternoon on the local grounds against the team of the Normal school. The Kenedy stood 34 to 0 in favor of the Kenedy team. The latter showed splendid form and worked to perfection. The Runge team showed great improvement since its last game, especially in its defense.

The line-up: Kenedy—Position. Runge. Crawford Left end Runge. Kellock Left tackle Wood. Hill Left guard Ryan. Martin Center Beckwith. Cheneau Right guard Guther. McInna Right tackle B. Toms. Elehherger Right end Beck. Benedict Quarterback Wilburn. Russell Left halfback M. Ryan. Rutledge Right halfback Moore. Runge (C) Fullback Toms (C). Referee, Clyde Echols (Baptist Academy).

Substitution: A. Hill for Cheneau.

Vanderbilt Southern Football Champion

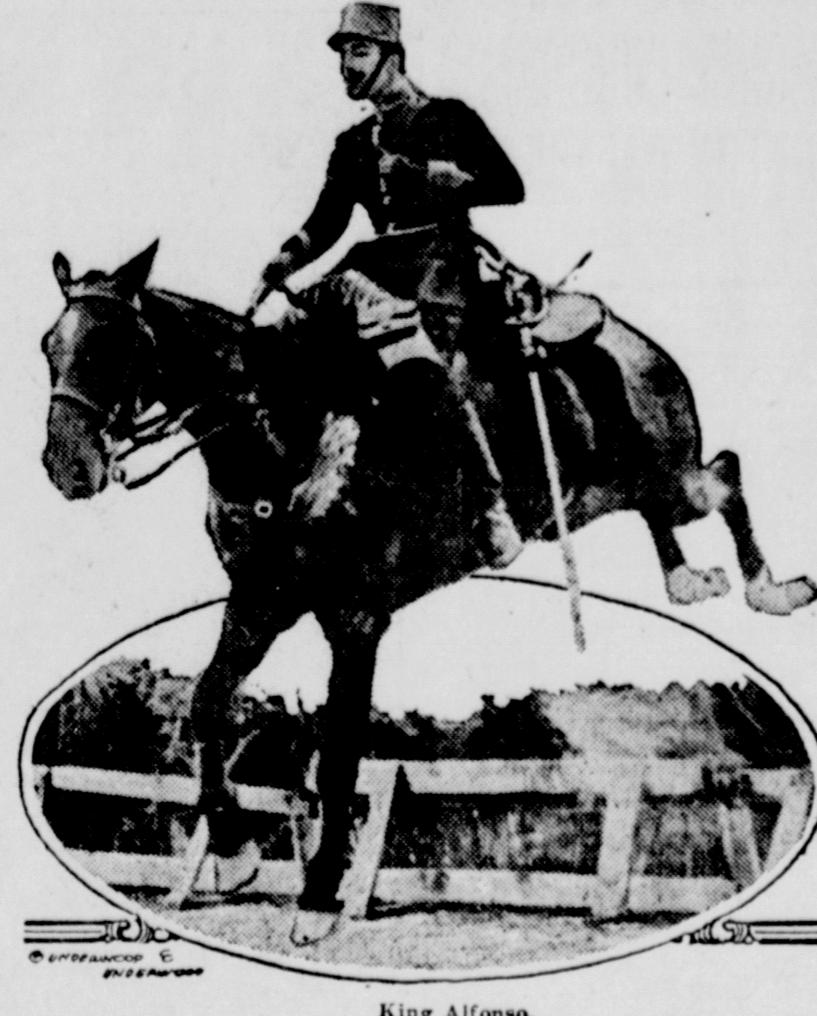

By the Associated Press. Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—Vanderbilt's victory yesterday at Birmingham over Auburn while the University of Georgia was outplaying Georgia Tech, the third remaining aspirant to championship honors, and holding them to a scoreless tie, gives the Vanderbiltites the opinion that Vanderbilt rightly claim championship football honors in the old Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association territory. Virginia is not regarded as being in this territory.

Vanderbilt's record in Auburn increased its total points against teams in the old association territory to 476, without a point being made against Vanderbilt. Auburn already had beaten Georgia Tech, while the other two teams in the season were outplayed, though neither team scored in yesterday's game with the Red and Black. Tech and Vanderbilt are not scheduled to play against each other this season, but on Thanksgiving Day Tech and Auburn are to play. Auburn's defeat Tech all doubt should be eliminated.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME TO BE PLAYED TODAY

MERIDIAN COLLEGE AND A. C. I. MEET AT COTTON PALACE AT 1:15 THIS AFTERNOON.

BOTH HAVE FINE RECORDS

Result of Contest Will Settle Foot-Ball Title for Secondary Schools of the State.

Jacksonville's Alexander Collegiate Institute football specialists arrived yesterday for their scheduled controversy with Meridian at the Cotton Palace Athletic Field at 1:15 this afternoon. The game will decide the championship for secondary colleges of the state.

Both teams have an enviable record of wins. It is certain the contest will be closely fought and that fans will be treated to a genuine and perhaps thrilling session. Alexander has an array of big, husky, athletic looking students and have all the outer marks of being formidable.

"We are not making any bold and extravagant boasts, or claiming victory before we annex it," said R. G. Bolger at the Riggins last night. "The fact, however, that we are in the final game of the season and the champion ship indicates that we have a team of some merit. I am not informed as to the special strength of Meridian, but do not apprehend that it will be difficult to locate an array of such students. When the weak point is discovered we will centralize upon it. Weather conditions promise to be precisely right for football, I see no reason why a first-class and rather exhibition should not be given."

The team is composed of seventeen members. They were assigned the banquet room at the Riggins hotel last night. Incidentally, too, they began using it for sleeping purposes at an early hour. The purpose of the fresh and fatiguing combination when they clash with the clan from Meridian—a bit of strategy that savors of the big university. Meridian will arrive this morning over the Santa Fe on a special train chartered by the boasting business men of that place.

Those from the Jacksonville college registered at the Riggins are: R. G. Bolger, B. D. Dashell, Will H. Davis, Jr., George Phillips, Alvin McDonald, Marvin Kennedy, H. A. Bradley, Frank Petts, A. D. Welch, Homer Smith, H. L. Miller, Cooper Howell, A. D. Brooks, John Ellis, Derrell Toole and Harry Hibbns.

The game will be made a feature event for the little city of Meridian. All the business houses, except the drug stores, will close and everybody who can will come on to victory's altar to cheer on boys on to victory. A silent hand from Meridian will be brought along to furnish the music for the occasion.

J. Doss Miller Is Impressed With Value of Cotton Palace

J. Doss Miller is one of the landmarks of DeLeon. DeLeon is one of the bright spots along the line of the Texas Central railroad. The two form a prosperous combination. Mr. Miller has been doing big things along stock raising and agricultural lines in that section of the country for many years.

He has just completed a three days' visit to the Cotton Palace. Mr. Miller visited every department of the exposition. He made a close study of every exhibit. Just before leaving for home he told some of his friends that the Cotton Palace this year far exceeded any other exposition that he had ever visited in the South. His mind was so greatly pleased with the value of the Cotton Palace as an educational institution that he had determined immediately to make arrangements with the management for the exhibition of his big herd of Shorthorn Durham cattle at the exposition next year. Also some of his choicest farm products.

With Mr. Miller taking the lead as an exhibitor from the Texas Central territory, it is safe to predict that many other prominent agriculturists from that section of the state will follow his example and have splendid exhibits at the Cotton Palace next year.

Tickets for Banquet on Public Servants' Day Now on Sale

Tickets for the Public Servants' banquet, which is the climax of the special Cotton Palace day in honor of the public employees next Friday, are now on sale by J. J. Hutchison, chairman of the committee from the Y. M. C. A., by which organization the banquet is given. The number of plates will be limited to one hundred and twenty-five. The festive close of the day's attractive program will occur in the evening at the State House.

When the public servants arrive in Waco they will be met at the trains by directors of the Cotton Palace and Y. M. C. A. and each director will be host to a certain number of visitors. An automobile ride will be the first thing on the day's schedule, winding up at the Cotton Palace.

Letters from different prominent officials of the state indicate that the attendance for the day will be large and that many of the leading public servants in Texas will be in the Central City to rub elbows with their fellows on November 19.

Aviator Will Make Flight Before Game Cotton Palace Today

Because of the sudden cold wave which struck Waco yesterday, Aviator O. E. He expects to carry a passenger on several flights this week.

OKLAHOMA-NEBRASKA GAME IS IN DOUBT

TWO MEMBERS OF MISSOURI VALLEY CONFERENCE TO VOTE AGAINST CONTEST.

Cornhusker and Sooner Coaches Both Agree to Play in Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 14.—If Oklahoma and Nebraska University football teams meet on the gridiron this fall at Kansas City in the proposed game to decide the championship of the entire southwest, it will be against the vote of at least two members of the Missouri Valley conference, with which Nebraska is affiliated.

Coach Bennie Owen of the Sooneers and Coach E. O. S. Stelham of Nebraska have agreed to the game on the consent of the Missouri Valley conference to the game being needed. To sound the members of the conference, a local newspaper addressed the athletic director of each institution with the question and asked him to probable vote.

C. Brewer, replying for the University of Missouri, said:

"Missouri will maintain the stand that was adopted several years ago by the Missouri Valley conference forbidding games in any sport as well as limiting the football season to eight games and playing of games on college grounds only. Each institution has the privilege of making its own schedule, but we see no reason for releasing a member from the above regulations."

Clyde Williams, answering for Ames, said:

"While I cannot state what final action would be taken, we have always been against post-season games. It would take action of Missouri Valley conference to make such a game possible in Kansas City."

The other conference members so far as known, have not committed themselves.

Exhibition Games Barred From Coast

By the Associated Press.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Major league baseball clubs no longer will be welcomed in the cities of the Pacific coast as participants in exhibition games. League directors last night voted to close the gates of all league parks against exhibition games whether of local or foreign talent.

Such exhibition contests were to be held by the league in the fall, but were discontinued by President Al Baum as menaces to the life of the "goose that lays the golden egg," as they detracted from interest in the game. He said the cause of yesterday's action was the fact that Owen Clegg, general manager, on behalf of the Chicago White Sox to the coast but neither represented the best material he had.

The league also put itself on record as opposed to playing of winter baseball by players under contract or reservation on the ground that the practice was detrimental to summer playing ability. The salary limit was cut from $5000 to $4500 a month.

Seven Lightweights to Become Welters

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Recommendations that seven former lightweight boxers be elevated to the welter division were made at a meeting of the directors of the American Boxing Association here today. The boxers are: Eddie O'Dowd, Battfield, Kid Gravess, Packey McFarland, Willie Ritchie, Jack Britton and Ted Kid Lewis. As there was doubt if Ritchie, Britton and Lewis wanted to be declared as lightweights, it was deemed necessary for O'Dowd, Gravess, Battfield and McFarland to be pitted off, the winner to be declared champion.

In the middleweights, it was recommended that Young Ahern, Mike Gibbons, Joe Smith, George Jimmy Jimmyathy and Eddie McGroarty be entered in an elimination contest.

Frank Izzy Jimmy Pappas and Artie Armstrong were selected to contest for the lightweight championship.

James J. Corbett was recognized as champion heavyweight.

The board recommended that Willie Ritchie be given ninety days to defend his title as American champion at 135 lbs. and if he failed to do so, it would be up to Charlie White and Johnny Dundee should be matched for the title, the board feels.

Census was directed at Johnny Kibane, featherweight champion, being charged that he had not given his best effort in contests during the last year.

The association is composed of boxing promoters and owners of fight clubs. The recommendations were made, according to the directors, in an effort to clear up the situation regarding the titles in the classes involved.

Requests for Numbers on Cavallo's Program Should be Sent Early

Requests for numbers to be included in Cavallo's musical program of the people on next Friday must be mailed not later than 6 p. m. Thursday in order to be assured of acceptance, it was announced yesterday. Both contracts for the day will be made up entirely of request numbers, and the quartet will be inserted in the spirit of the day's musical review.

Water Circus on Warpath Some Classy Attraction

Rice & Dore, expert show managers, have gotten together the classiest and most aggregation of high drivers, fanatical swimmers, gamblers and other specialists of the aquatic line in the United States. They have the tagged combination as the "Water Circus" and numerous hundreds are seeing it every day at the Cotton Palace, which, incidentally, is the most unique and remarkable exposition in the western hemisphere and that means on earth.

This aggregation of human fishes, strong, active, muscular, daring adventurers of the male clan and pretty, graceful and almost equally daring bevy of the gentler genus do a variety of aquatic stunts. None, however, in the Rice & Dore combine or any other combine are quite so careless of consequences as Walter Knight, known as "Dare Devil Knight," and Capt. Charles Soderberg, world's premier high diver. These two, perfectly normal in other particulars, are absolutely without the sense of physical fear and perform feats fixe and six times every day that may mean mainaining for life or even instant death. And without being pessimistic, of dismal prophesy, it may be remarked that many of these may, some day, prove quite disagreeable and not on the program. That is, they are going to watch attendants and other attaches of the Rice & Dore Water Circus collect the remains of "Dare Devil Knight" or Capt. Soderberg—they are a little too starling and venturesome.

Capt. Soderberg is a Swede. He was born in 1886 and came to the United States where the national trait is a hunt for excitement. He capitalized the American trait by becoming a professional high diver and swimmer. That his judgment is good is evident from the fact that he has acquired title, if not absolute, to real estate in Portland, Vancouver, Toronto and Buffalo. In an average sized community, Capt. Soderberg would be rated as a capitalist. He could retire now, but like John D. Rockefeller and all other successful men, except the Kingpin Dispenser of Personally Tagged Libraries, he continues in harness, partially by force of habit and partially because he has a normal desire to accumulate more real estate—for, he said, he does not jump sauntly from a narrow ladder scores of feet in the air down into a small tank containing six feet of water merely for fun. Not on your admission fee, he does not. He requires a certain and guaranteed stipend, payable every Saturday night.

Walter Knight is an Irishman, born in Australia, 29 years ago. He set the Australian amusement circuit afire with his bicycle, iron-and-bar, automobile, and other acts. Rice & Dore, always progressive, concluded the Australians were getting something better than the United States and that wouldn't do at all. Consequently, Knight was imported. That was in

Since that time he has been creating record volleys of excitement, which is another way of saying he has been starting little conflagrations of excitement throughout this country and Canada. Unlike Captain Soderberg, but entirely like the Irish, he has declined to devote himself very industriously toward the accumulation of tenant house and second-class hotel buildings. He probably has made as much real coin of the American vintages as Soderberg, but he has scattered it as fancy dictated and fancy dictates quite often and requires more of the Irish. That statement is not intended to imply that Knight is ready for the Riggins. Hardly. If he should jump his somethings occurs in the show business, he could hang around very comfortably for the remainder of the winter and put up at the Riggins, if he preferred.

Capt. Soderberg, in 1892, when 6 years old, was a part of Sharp Shooters park, Chicago, professional swimming cast. When 14 years old, also at Chicago, he was employed as a diver at Belmont bath beach. He has tubs full of bathers in marathon races.

As a diver, he has swum from all the high bridges in Chicago and is the only man who ever jumped from the Allegheny bridge, 135 feet high, at Pittsburgh. His chief reputation is based on his underwater act—the Neptune of the Water Circus. His feature dive was from the Broadway bridge at Portland, 412 feet, 1912—the distance was 166 feet. Endurance is necessary assets of a human fish—it however, it takes a fair quantity of grit.

There are not enough superlatives in Non-Webster's unabridged to adequately describe "Dare Devil Knight."

In his line he is in a class by himself.

His run from an incline with a two-feet "jump-up" at the end to lend force to his wild drive and subsequent plunge into the pool is unduplicated and unprecedented. He leaps a gap

thirty-two feet wide and immerses himself in the usual six feet of water.

Probably his first claim to distinction, though, is the stunt wherein he takes an iron bar between his teeth and is eight men, four on either side, dangle and squirm and twist until the bar bends to the point that the dainty little hands of the girls holding the dainty little girls holding the dainty

BIBLE ONLY GUIDE FOR RELIGIOUS FAITH

REV. W. P. MERONEY PREACHES SERMON ON BASIS OF RELIGIOUS BELIEF.

FOUR MEASUREMENTS GIVEN

Standard Upon Which Religious Faith Can Be Based Must Fulfill These Requirements, He Declares.

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." —Psalms 19:10.

Proper reasoning for the same premises in religious matters lead to the same conclusions, declared Rev. W. P. Meroney, pastor of the Turner Street Baptist church, in his sermon yesterday. Hence, he concluded, all true religious faiths should be the same in the fundamentals, differing only in the form of presentation. The Bible as a standard of religious faith was discussed by the pastor, who declared that it alone measures up to the essential requirements of a guide in these matters. Rev. Mr. Meroney's text was taken from Psalms 119:105. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

Rev. Mr. Meroney said in part:

"Many religious beliefs exist in the world. They consist of a variety too numerous to mention even the most prominent ones. We often hear the expression, 'No two men believe exactly alike.' This is perhaps true, when the question is pressed to its finer and more minute details of belief, but when confined to the great fundamentals of religion there is much greater and more definite unity than is usually supposed, and this unity is growing greater with every passing year."

"Truth is the same wherever it is found, though it may assume different forms of expression as it comes from different minds, and sometimes its garb may be such as to cause it to pass unrecognized. It may sometimes be found buried in the midst of a mass of rubbish and error, and in fact it is necessary for us to look well to all our thinking to see if we have the truth unmixed with error. It has been well said that a half truth is much more dangerous than full error. 'It is a fact that make the more dangerous some of the systems of teaching in our land. They have given an amount of truth that the error they teach is unbalanced by the unthinking and uninformed. A deadly dose of strichnine, in itself a very bitter dose, may be made the most palatable of medicines by the proper mixing with honey. So it is with the errors of Satan, they usually come veiled in a religious cloak and sugar-coated with an element of truth, that deceives the unwary and leads them astray."

"Still as knowledge increases, men are bound to come to see things alike for proper reasoning from the same premises will always lead to the same conclusions. As we come to understand what the fundamental premises of religion are, and as we study out their conclusions we will find the world getting closer together in religious things."

"There is no conflict in truth. The conflicts that exist in the world are conflicts in our understanding of the truth, and not in the truth itself. It is our duty to welcome any investigation of what the truth may be, and to seek in the right spirit to know what is true and what may be relied upon."

"Thus it also becomes our duty to weed out the error that may exist in our thinking. This may usually be done by an investigation of the grounds for such thinking. We should also welcome the fact that means the further unity in the thinking of God's people. The unity of all the people of God in religious matters is not a thing to be despised by any right thinking person, but it must always be held in mind that true unity can only be where we see alike and believe alike and that anything that is unity in name only is a farce and an abomination in the sight of the Almighty. Whatever tends to real unity is to be sought and encouraged. Whatever tends to unity by compromise or the disregard of real truth should meet with our positive and approval."

"In the study of the problems affecting our religious nature and determining our conduct toward men and God it is well for us to ask if there is a standard by which to test our conclusions as a carpenter tests his angles by the square, or the merchant his weights by his scales? Is there anywhere a court of final appeal in whose verdict we may trust with implicit confidence?"

"In order to answer this question in the affirmative we must find somewhere a standard that measures up to the following requirements."

"Nothing that falls short of any of them can lay claim to unity in the realm of religion. Without such a standard we are at sea and each man is a law unto himself. Does such a standard exist? It does. It is found in the Holy Bible, the word of God. If not found in that there is no such standard, nor can there be any. Religion, then is but the product of man's reasoning, and each man may lay claim to the right to believe what he pleases as it may appeal to him, and consequently may claim the right to do as he pleases. Without a standard of weights, every man would be at liberty to make his own pound and sell accordingly. If then we have no such standard in religion every man is at liberty to make his own religion. On the other hand, where we have a standard it is the duty of every man to measure himself and what he does by that standard. Thus if the Bible is the standard by which all human conduct, creeds and opinions should be tried, then it is not at liberty to think and do as he pleases, but as the standard prescribes."

"Let us then see if the Bible measures up to the requirements of such standards. If so, we have proceeded a long way toward reaching the desired goal of our religious thinking. We may engage in endless argument as to whether an angle is 60 degrees or not but when the try square is produced all argument is at an end. So when we all come to recognize that the Bible is the final authority in matters of religious faith, all our arguments are reduced to mere questions of interpretations about which there should be little caviling among God's people."

"Take as the first requirement. Such a standard must be superior to our own mental reasonings. To do this, we must come from a being superior to us in reasoning powers. It must come from one knowing more than we, than anyone or of all combined. This does not mean that it is to be in any way contrary to reason but above and superior to our reason. It does not mean that it must be unreasonable in its appeal to us, but that it must surpass the powers of our finite minds in the realm of reason that its conclusions must be final. Does the Bible do this? The Bible does. It is unthinkable that God would create a moral being, place him in a sphere requiring proper moral conduct, imprint upon his nature a moral consciousness demanding allegiance to a superior being, and then fail to provide some way for that creature to know his maker and his will concerning him. All the ages of the world's history teach us that man by reasoning cannot find God. Science may tell us something of the wonderful power and infinite intelligence of God, but it remains silent before the questions of moral responsibility that surge in man's soul demanding an answer. It is this that the God who made us, and the God that is demanded by our own conception of Him, would reveal to us His will concerning our conduct and relation to him."

"Second. The Bible claims to be such a revelation of God's will to man. The men who penned its pages claimed to write under the influence of the Divine spirit. History proves that the most of them sealed their claims by the red ribbon of their own life's blood. Scarcely would a man die to substantiate a claim that he knew was false and vain. The fact that the claim is made should have great weight in deciding our attitude toward this book."

"While taken alone, it would not be adequate proof, yet taken with other things it forms a strong link in the chain that should bind our faith to the Book of Books."

"Third. Taking the Bible as it stands, it is evidently the product of man writing under Divine guidance or of an endowed power, qualities of reasoning powers, and high moral attainments, or else the product of imposters and hypocrites. The latter class could not produce a book containing the precepts and teachings found in the Bible. They would be incapable of conceiving such beautiful moral thought nor would they dream of making such moral exactions as are found in the Bible. Much less would they be found sacrificing their lives in the defense of what they taught. Imposters are invariably cowards. Men of superior reasoning powers and of any degree of moral attainments would not be guilty of palming off on the world the will claimed to be the will of God, and would not be guilty without branding themselves as hypocrites and imposters, and thus incapable of producing the Bible."

"In other words, 'Man could not have written the Bible if he would, and would not if he could.'

"Fourth. The Bible is its own witness. It is superior to man's wisdom is seen written on its every page. If you or I were going to write a Bible, we would put it out in quite different form to that we find it. We would leave out all those dark pictures and stories of men who fell into sin. We would paint David in quite different colors to what we find him. Solomon. We would write something fit for our children to read, as we conceived it. Yes. We would do great things, but the very fact that the Bible is true to history, and tells these glaring inconsistencies in the best manner of it is of God. Ordinary men would have left them out. The fact that God has placed them in His Word should teach us that they are for a purpose and to teach us not to do life."

"Following this line of reasoning, the Bible may be shown to be the revelation of God's will to man, and thus the standard by which our religious opinions should be tried by the further arguments of its wonderful unity, its teaching, the attestation of its remarkable miracles, its remarkable influence in moulding the civilization of the world, and the fact that it has withstood the test of time made by men in all lands through all the centuries."

"Take the second requirement of a standard that is to be our guide in religious matters. Does the Bible come up to it? 'It must be universal in its adaptation, and must harmonize with all that is in the world over, and in different ages of the history of the world.' But in all there is some varying element that enters in that brings a difference. The Chinese is different from the American, and yet the same. The Bible has proven itself to be adaptable to both alike. Its teachings meet the soul need of both and answers the questions of each so far as is necessary for them to be answered. 'The world around has found the Bible to be the best light on all the problems of life.' Our ancestors found in the Bible 'Lamp unto their feet and a light to their pathway, through all the wilderness of wanderings,' and to those who rightly seek it truth it shines with as much a luster upon the otherwise hidden things of life. It is the only standard that can lay any claim whatsoever to universality. Its adaptability is beyond all question with those who know anything about it."

"For the rich or the poor, for the ignorant or the learned, for the sick or the well, for the man or the woman, for the black or the white, for the young or the old, the Bible is the best book, a safe and sure guide for the life that is on."

"Another thing we desired in a standard in religious affairs is not specific rules but general principles that may be applied to specific cases. Other wise would not be adaptable to all conditions and needs of men and would necessarily fall in some point. It is here that we often misunderstand the Bible. While it contains many definite rules and many specific commandments, that are all inclusive. While in it are found the ten commandments, still also is found taught the great principle of love to God and man that includes these same commandments under the general principle of love."

"We find many people who seek a definite 'Thus saith the Lord' that ignore entirely the great principles of His word."

"The very fact that the Bible is based upon the teaching of the great principle of conduct, and does not endeavor to schedule man's conduct in detail, qualifies it to be our guide."

"Third, the broad way is the way of deceit. Some one has said there is but one road, one end leads up to life, and the other end leads down to death. This way is the unprofitable way; it is the way of vanity, it is the way of the world, it is the way of the ungodly, it is the way of the immoral man. There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked." Paul says, 'Now the works of the flesh are manifested, which are these: adultery, fornication, uncleanness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulation, wrath, strife, sedition, heresies.' These are traveling this broad way."

"These two ways run parallel at the start. They start at the same place; you can hardly tell one from the other at the start. It is very difficult to tell which is the right one. Here is the honest man; here is the moral man; it looks from the way that he does that he is on this narrow way. He says, 'I am just as good as the church man.' Here is the man that pays his tithe. He says, 'I am just as good as the church man,' but honest man, moral man, remember that Solomon says, 'There is a way that seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof is death.' So you are mistaken, you are led into the broad way."

"Fourth, I will make the Bible rather than conscience my guide for conscience is fallible, and only approves or disapproves when my actions conform to the basis of all my relations and actions toward my fellowman and God."

THE TWO WAYS IS M'GUIRE'S SUBJECT

Broad Way Down to Death Is Pleasant and On It There Are More Passengers, Pastor Declares.

"Enter ye in at the strait gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be who go in thereat: Because strait is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life." —Matthew 7:13-14.

The Two Ways of Life" was the subject of sermon yesterday by Rev. D. A. McGuire, pastor of the Clay Street Methodist church. The two ways, said Rev. Mr. McGuire, lead one down to destruction and one to eternal life. At the beginning they are little different, but at the end far apart, he said.

Continuing, Rev. Mr. McGuire said, in part:

"Enter ye in at the strait gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be who go in thereat: Because strait is the gate and narrow is the way, that leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." —Matthew 7:13-14.

"There is something in human nature which responds to the bracing tonic of the exhortation: By doing thus you will have to face many hardships and many difficulties which you may avoid by leaving it alone, but to do it, because it is best in the long run, being right from the beginning.

"So the story of the martyrs' fires has lighted many a man to the faith for which the martyr was burned. Many a youth has been led to like the shilling and enlisted by reading accounts of wounds and battles and sufferings.

"Our Lord will have no soldiers in His army or false pretenders. They shall know exactly what they have to reckon on if they take service with him. And thus in the solemn and familiar words of my text, He enjoins each of us to become His disciples, and that not only because, as is sometimes supposed, of the blessing that lies at the end for His servants, but because of the things on the road to the end which, at first sight, seem difficulties; for you will observe that in my text the exhortation, 'Enter ye in at the strait gate,' is followed by two clauses, each of which begins with a 'for'; the first being a description of the road that is to be shunned; the second an account of the path that is to be followed. In each description there are four contrasted particulars: the gate, strait or wide; the road, narrow or broad; the travelers, many or few, and the end, life or destruction.

"The people generally read these words as if our Lord was saying, 'Though the one path is narrow and rugged and steep and unrequested, yet walk on it, because it leads to life; and though the other presents the opposite of all these characteristics, yet avoid it, because, pleasant and popular as it is, its end is destruction.' But this is not so. All four things are reasons for avoiding the one and following the other, which means just this, that we ought to be Christians because there are difficulties and pains and sacrifices in being so, which we may shirk if we will.

"First, the gate. There comes a call to every man to enter this gate. This gate is always ajar, and yet the Lord says, 'If any man will come after me let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me.' I am glad this is a strait gate. Paul says, 'Let us lay aside every weight and the sin that doth so easily beset us and run the race.' I am glad that it is left to every man as to whether he will enter this gate.

"Second, the wide gate not only stands open all the time, but it has some one there to lead you out into the fields of pleasure, for on the front of this wide gate you will find these words in large golden letters, 'Money, fame, honor, happiness, ease, pleasure, good time, and the price is cheap.'

"Third, the broad way is the way of the world, and the end of the broad way is death."

"I am sorry to say that many of the church members are going in at this broad gate.

"Repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ is the key that unlocks this strait gate. Brother, if you wish to enter this gate you must leave your sins behind.

"Second, the wide gate not only stands open all the time, but it has some one there to lead you out into the fields of pleasure, for on the front of this wide gate you will find these words in large golden letters, 'Money, fame, honor, happiness, ease, pleasure, good time, and the price is cheap.'

"Fourth, I will make the Bible rather than conscience my guide for conscience is fallible, and only approves or disapproves when my actions conform to the basis of all my relations and actions toward my fellowman and God."

TODAY IS YOUNG MEN'S BUSINESS LEAGUE DAY

At the Texas Cotton Palace and It Will Be Y. M. B. L. Day all Day and Well into the Night

The Young Men's Business League "Stunts" at the Texas Cotton Palace have always attracted enormous crowds, for the mere announcement of the letters "Y. M. B. L." spells a splendid as well as a most novel entertainment. This year's Y. M. B. L. Day will surpass anything ever before attempted.

At 4 O'clock and from Then Until 6 O'clock a Big Special Feature for Children

To every child visiting the Texas Cotton Palace between four and six o'clock a present will be given. The committee in charge of this will be stationed just inside the Main Entrance to the Cotton Palace.

During these hours there will also be a hunt for the Mysterious Boy and Girl and a cash prize will be offered to the lucky boy or girl who finds them

This hunt will be for children under fifteen years of age only. The mysterious boy and girl will appear on the War Path between the hours of 4:15 and 6:00 o'clock. The first boy or girl who meets the mysterious boy on the War Path and says to him in these exact words, "You are a future member of the Y. M. B. L." will be given $5.00 in gold. The first boy or girl who meets the mysterious girl on the War Path and says to her these exact words, "You will marry a future member of the Y. M. B. L." will also be presented with $5.00 in gold.

Prize to Be Awarded to the Best Masked Couple Between the Hours of 7:30 and 8:45

A prize of $15.00 will be given to the best masked couple and a prize of $10.00 to the best masked individual appearing on the War Path between the hours of 7:30 and 8:45. The judges of this contest will occupy a conspicuous place on the War Path.

Everybody is Expected to be in Mask on the War Path

FEDERAL COURT WILL RE-CONVENE TODAY: JURY CASES CALLED

Members of the federal grand jury have returned 73 indictments since they convened last Monday. Thirty-five of the total were returned against individuals arrested in connection with the box car robberies at Mart. With the exception of three of the sixteen accused, have been arrested. Their cases will be called for trial this week.

Earl Gardner, indicted for violating the Harrison narcotic act, has pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to ninety days in jail. Other indictments alleging violation of the terms of the act were returned against Dr. J. S. Barnes, Robert Lemond, Earl Gardner, Roland Fuller, John Cassiday, William G. Thomason and J. M. Huddleston. Those charged with violating the retail liquor laws are Walter Brooks, Anna Mullens, Willie Brown, Frank Holt, Manuel Jones, Tom Robinson and Jack Thomas, all of whom pleaded guilty and received fines of $100 and a sentence of sixty days in jail.

Other pleas of guilty were entered by George Patterson, $1 and 18 months in the penitentiary for counterfeiting; C. E. Endro, 60 days in jail for impersonating an officer, and Estelle Reed, 10 days in jail for stealing mail matter. Other indictments included: Sarah Tyson, assault to murder; Eton Hill, attempting to pass an altered obligation of the government; B. M. Tamm, attempting to pass a counterfeit dollar; Ernest Dieble, stealing mail matter; Wright Langford, using United States mails to defraud; and Guadalupe Gomez, forging a United States money order.

Court will reconvene this morning. The petit jury will report for service at this morning's session.

Revival Begins at Columbus St. Church Next Sunday Morning

Rev. Dr. F. S. Groner, pastor of the Columbus Street Baptist church, announced at the services yesterday that a series of meetings will begin at his church next Sunday morning, November 21. The meetings will be conducted by Rev. Dr. S. E. Tull, pastor of the First Baptist church at Temple.

Rev. Dr. Tull is a young man and formerly was pastor of the First Baptist church at Paducah, Kentucky. He is a forceful pulpit orator, a careful and profound student of the Bible. He is pleasing in address and recognized generally as one of the ablest of the Baptist ministry. It is certain he will create much interest and be of great value to the Columbus street and other congregations.

The music for the series of meetings will be under the direction of Drew M. Cumbie of Longview, Texas. Drew M. Cumbie is one of the more efficient and better known choir leaders of the state.

Body of Accident Victim Turned Over to His Brother

The body of James P. Watkins, who was run over and killed by an automobile at Eighth and Webster streets Friday night, was sent to Farmersville, Fannin county, by the L. C. Puckett Undertaking firm Sunday afternoon. Funeral services and burial will take place at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The body was identified Saturday night immediately after the arrival of Dr. L. W. Watkins, a nephew of Leonard, Texas. Dr. Watkins telephoned his father, B. H. Watkins, with whom James P. Watkins made his home at Sipe Springs. B. H. Watkins arrived Sunday and with Dr. Watkins accompanied his brother to Farmersville. The body of James P. Watkins, who died several years ago, is buried at Farmersville. He was 72 years old. No children survive him.

Mary Pickford.
"Madame Butterfly," John Luther Long's universally beloved work, is being given to the Paramount picture theatre public with the incomparable Mary Pickford in the celebrated role of Cho-Cho-San, by the Famous Players Film company at the Rex now.

It is interesting to note that "Madame Butterfly" was written about twenty years ago and first gained the attention and admiration of the theatrical world when David Belasco produced it with Blanche Bates in the leading role—in which she scored one of the greatest successes of her career. In 1904 the great Puccini, charmed by the infinite pathos of the tale, wrote about it one of the most exquisite musical settings that has ever been heard on any operatic stage. Two years later the opera was introduced into this country by Henry W. Sage, and it has ever since been one of the most popular offerings of the musical world.

Now it is to be immortalized upon the screen as a Paramount picture. It is altogether fitting that Mary Pickford, the foremost photoplay star in the world, should be chosen to appear in "Madame Butterfly," which has the distinction of being the first work of an American author to be made the basis of a grand opera. Coincidentally, it is the first Oriental role which the little star has ever played.

For the exquisite Japanese settings of this pathetic tale, Sid Olcott, under whose direction it was produced, obtained the exclusive use of the most beautiful Japanese gardens in the United States. That no detail of costume or native usage might be overlooked, one of the most dependable authorities on Japanese matters—a member of the New York Nipponese colony—was especially engaged to superintend the buying of costumes and

A hit approximately as great as the star's was scored by Frank Campeau in the role of Trampas, a "greaser." After the end of "The Virginian's" run Farnum and Campeau, though close pals, naturally separated. They did not meet again for years and years until last summer when both were out on "location." the prince and have him bestow the title upon Bote.

The Duchess Louise, worried by the love of Jo and the prince, explains to him that he will be able to marry Jo only by a morganatic marriage.

When the prince proposes this to Jo, she indignantly refuses. Mr. Bote, hearing of this, tells Jo that he will stop payment on the check his father and step-mother to prison. Jo, knowing nothing of the note, goes to her step-mother for an explanation, whereupon after being told ev-tory, Jo is seriously injured in an accident, caused by the king's servant, who tries to make a get-away, but is caught and severely punished. The story ends happily, with Jo's complete recovery and her marriage with the prince.

AUDITORIUM.

"September Morn" Saturday, Matinees and Night.

"September Morn," a rollicking musical comedy by Arthur Gillespie and Aubrey Stauffer, produced originally in Chicago at the LaSalle opera house, where it made a success during a run covering 256 performances, comes to the Auditorium next Saturday, matinee and night. It possesses much of the spectacular aspects of the Broadway "review," although distinctly a "Made in Chicago" brand of musical farce.

The company to present it number fifty and among its principals will be found Harry Fields, Jas. C. Brazeau, Harry Jones, Maxwell Sargent, Ernest Marx, Vernon Martyn, Mildred Goodfellow, Helene Hardy and May Bell Shearer. It will be given here with all the original costumes, scenery, chorus and a large corps de ballet.

The organization is meeting with remarkable success on its tour. It is quoted as being the "one positive hit" of the present season.

At G. Field's Greater Minstrels Tuesday Night.

Nothing exposes the weakness of a person or event any more thoroughly than an accurately aimed joke, and the wordy politician is having much of the wind taken out of his sails this season by the unrivaled black-face comedian, Bert Swor, who is with the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels.

Swor is given the entire stage for his stunt, with the setting representing the lobby of a hotel. His impersonation is that of the "hotel portier." After getting the audience into an uproar of laughter by his comment on his job, the guest and his relations, he finishes with a bravely on the customary political speech that is really a classic in fun-making.

The flourish and pompous manner by which the politician tries to make high-sounding the utmost commonplace are given a comical twist by Swor that will laugh them out of existence for anyone in the audience.

The Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels are at the Auditorium Tuesday night.

the acquisition of all properties used in support of the star, there appears Marshal Neilan in the role of Lieutenant Pinkerton, the faithless lover. Mr. Neilan is already familiar to the motion picture public by reason of his excellent work in leading roles. It is safe to say, however, that he has never had a better opportunity to display his ability than in this characterization. Others who appear in the cast are W. T. Carleton, Olive West, Jane Hall and Lawrence Wood. At the Rex today and tomorrow.

Pauline Frederick is chilly, very chilly. The Famous Players-Paramount star had some extremely Oriental gowns designed for her production of Robert Hitchens' "Bella Donna," with the idea that his Paramount picture would be taken in Florida in the early fall. But Edwin S. Porter and Hugh Ford, her directors, found that many of the scenes could be staged much more effectively in New York, and they returned north. Then the fire in the Famous Players' studio delayed the film for a month—and Miss Frederick is shivering in decidedly summary garments as a result.

Which explains why you will see some bits of "The Iron Strain" scenery in "Jordan is a Hard Road" and some portions of "Jordan" landscapes in "The Iron Strain."

Miss Shattuck, who will be seen in an interesting character role in "The Iron Strain," was formerly a prima donna of some repute. She is widely known throughout the country as a prima donna and appeared in "Little Johnny Jones," "George Washington, Jr.," "The Governor's Son," and many other popular offerings. Not long ago Miss Shattuck accepted an invitation from Thomas H. Ince to become a permanent member of the Triangle Kay Bee company producing the Ince films. She is still in the prime of life and is singularly attractive on the screen.

"The Iron Strain," in the role of Kitty Mollay, soubrette of the Alaskan dance hall, has made a big reputation for herself in the so-called vampire roles in Ince plays. She is splendid in adventurous parts, although her home life is of the quietest and most domestic. "You cannot imagine how I enjoy playing such parts," said the sprightly actress. "I just revel in them and yet they are mere tours de force."

"A Game old Knight" is the comedy with "The Iron Strain" and will be here three days.

Exhibit by Texas Girls' Home Economics Club Has Pleased Palace Crowds

Exhibits of the Texas Girls' Home Economic club, organized and supervised under the auspices of the state department of agriculture, have created a great deal of favorable comment from the crowds at the Cotton Palace.

This feature of the department's work has only been recently organized, but the growth and interest is declared to be remarkable.

To put it mildly, the enthusiasts of this constructive educational work among the farm girls of Texas say the "idea is taking with a vengeance."

In explaining the nature of the Home Economic club, Mrs. J. L. Landrum, state organizer and supervisor, who is in charge of this phase of the department's exhibits at the exposition, said among other things yesterday that at present the number of clubs was thirty-five with a membership of 2200, representing 35 towns and rural communities.

The home economics department was created about March of this year, she continued, "and the first club organized, a small rural club house, the birthplace and home of our present state attorney, General Looney."

When I told Attorney General Looney about this club and what it promised, she continued, he sent them a hand-some set of books for their first school library.

"When the Farmers' Institute was held in July this year the club's work was only four months old, this plan new to the rural girls, yet the results showed an encouraging, in fact a flattening report. Every club sent its representatives to the convention, their transportation being furnished by the railroads of Texas. We entertained them at the Blind Institute, a very delightful place. The business men of Austin willed a well stocked pantry for their living while there. There were appointed chaperons, and all social and business meetings were attended in a body, the Austin Traction company sending at an appointed moment cars for our transportation.

"We provided for their social entertainment the most delightful and worthy kinds. Mrs. Ferguson, wife of our governor, entertained the delegates with a reception at the mansion, opening the entire house for their inspection and pleasure. The Professional and Business Women club of the city entertained them with an enjoyable boat ride on the lake and an elegant box supper. They were guests of the traction company for a trolley ride over the city. One of the most beautiful homes of the city was opened to them with a beautifully appointed reception. The men of agriculture entertained all the delegates, men and girls and boys, with a reception at the State University campus. Our club girls declared that business women could be charming hostesses and women and Mrs. Ferguson as lovable as any lady.

"Since the July convention much additional work has been done and other clubs organized. Their preserved and canned products have been exhibited at six fairs, including Galveston Cotton Carnival, Dallas State Fair and the beautiful Waco Cotton Palace. These products were prepared in early July and our best results were on the market, especially peaches.

"I judged the Dallas State fair exhibits of canned and preserved products put up by women from all over Texas and other places, also the Waco Cotton Palace exhibits, and feel perfectly conscientious in saying that I did not think any of it excelled the work done by my club girls. In fact, considering that our exhibit has been shipped over the state six times, I think we lead.

"We will hold our first county convention this month. It will be in Grayson county, where I have nine good clubs. It will be held at Denison on the 1st and 2nd. I will be there to show there. After viewing the Liberty Bell the girls will be entertained with a campfire breakfast, after which we will repair to our convention hall where a splendid program will be rendered. Each club will be called upon to make its report, and outline its winter work. After adjournment at 12 o'clock the girls will be the guests of the Denison Chamber of Commerce, and all the picture shows of the city will be open to them with special feature pictures.

"Our first district convention will be held in Dallas in January, and will be attended by delegates from seven counties. Their railroad transportation will be furnished them by our railroads. We will have a program of especial interest prepared for the meeting, and it will last two days. I expect to provide entertainment for the girls in the homes of the charming club women of that city.

"We send out weekly lessons to the club upon home economics. These lectures cover the study of our simple foods, showing their food values in colored diagrammed charts. The girls keep notes and at the end of the month a set of questions is sent out bearing upon the lessons passed over.

"The ultimate aim of my work is to teach girls the value of good sanitary house keeping, the value of balanced menus and how to prepare and cook even the simple foods upon their tables. Above all, I hope to help them to love home making."

Negress Goes to Pen for Perjury.

Eula Benson, negress, charged with perjury, was found guilty by jury verdict in Judge Richard L. Munroe's court Saturday afternoon and given two years in the penitentiary. During the trial of the case of J. C. Ashford against her for debt and foreclosure in Judge Erwin J. Clark's court she denied the execution of the contract. Assistant County Attorney D. C. Woods prosecuted the case. Mr. Woods also has filed a complaint against R. E. L. Keeling, negro, charging perjury in connection with the same trial.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WACO WOMEN RETURN SETS CONVENTION DATES FROM BROWNWOOD MEET

HOUSTON WILL BE SCENE OF MEETING OF STATE ZIONIST ASSOCIATION.

Out of Town Members Present at Executive Board, Meeting Held in Temple Agudath Jacob.

Members of the executive committee of the Texas State Zionist association at a special meeting held at Temple Agudath Jacob, Seventh and Columbus, yesterday afternoon fixed the dates for the state convention for January 3-4 at Houston. L. N. Mehl of Fort Worth, chairman of the committee, presided. Henry Ely, Dallas, acted as secretary in the absence of Miss Lydia Lippman, state secretary, also of Dallas, who was unable to attend.

Reports were heard from societies in Waco, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Galveston and Dallas. The meeting went on record as approving and urging a joint congress democratic and cordial in spirit to be held in some of the larger American cities for the purpose of discussing the effects of the European war. The congress, if called, will select delegates who will seek to represent the Jewish people in an effort to secure justice by the terms of the peace treaties.

The committee declined to take action upon several matters, preferring to refer them to the convention for final disposition. Among these were employment of a state organizer. Dr. J. Berg, J. Jacobs and Abe Gordon were appointed as a committee to present the matter to the convention.

The matter of inviting Dr. Epstein of the American Federation with headquarters in New York to visit Texas during the hour of the south also was referred to the convention. The question of an auxiliary organization for fraternal insurance took the same course.

It was decided to have a "Zion Day" throughout Texas on December 14. At that time every society in the state will recognize the "Zionist movement" by appropriate exercises.

Those in attendance were Chairman Mehl, Fort Worth; Sam Greenberg, Waco; D. S. Berg, San Antonio; E. Solsberg, Fort Worth; M. Shamblum, Fort Worth; L. F. Shamblum, Fort Worth; J. J. Jacobs, Fort Worth; Abe Gordon, Houston; Jonas Rosenfeld, Dallas; Henry Ely, Dallas; Morris H. Raymers, San Antonio; Rabbi Horowitz, Fort Worth; Meyer Goldsky, Galveston; Dr. S. A. Horowitz, Galveston; Judge Moskowitz, Galveston, and Joe Leaman, Galveston. Dr. B. J. French, of this city, and a member of the committee, was unable to attend because of an injury sustained about two weeks ago.

During the evening the usual services were held at the Temple.

Lott Man Heads Texas Land League

E. Landrum of Lott was elected president of the Land League of Texas at the annual meeting held in Seminole last half 5½, Austin Avenue, Saturday. E. O. Leitzen, Hallettsville, was elected secretary-treasurer. The executive committee, as named, included W. R. Fiddle, Point; F. A. Hernandez, Rockdale; J. L. Meek, Waco; A. J. Roscoe, Eustace, and George Shannon, Burleson.

Resolutions were adopted asking the legislature to repeal the Decker law; appealing to the legislature to pass a law taxing all lands held for organization of co-operative societies rental value; another permitting the organization of co-operative societies among the working classes free from interference by the capitalist class or the civil or military authorities except in case of armed rebellion. The federal, state, county and city governments are urged by resolution to provide means to take care of poverty-stricken pellagra patients. The land rental plan of Governor Ferguson was disapproved by resolution.

W. S. Noble was made custodian of the fund being raised by the league for the defense of F. A. Hernandez of Rockdale, charged in the federal court with inciting to rebellion. Arch Lincoln of Beaumont was named state organizer, and F. A. Hernandez, assistant.

SPIRIT OF THE SESSION GIVES ENTHUSIASTIC IMPRESSION.

Mrs. J. W. Downs Talks of Annual Session of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Waco delegates returning from the Texas Federation of Women's clubs annual meeting at Brownwood, which closed Saturday after being in session for a week, are enthusiastic over the spirit of the meeting and the programs there were rendered. Although the convention was held in the sixth district, which is one of the newest in the state, it is declared that the general interest which marked the session has not been exceeded. One hundred and twenty-five delegates were in attendance, and more than two hundred visitors were present practically throughout the programs.

The proceedings were most happy and the attendance very gratifying," was the snap-shot summary of the meeting given by Mrs. J. W. Downs, one of the Waco delegates, last night. Besides Mrs. Downs, who represented the Waco Literary club, the following Waco delegates were present: Mrs. E. M. Dotson, of the City Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. T. W. Robertson, of the Shakespeare club; Mrs. R. H. Hill, of the club; Mrs. L. E. Hill, of the Women's Study club.

Waco was represented in the personnel of the program in a unique way with selection of their attractive and clever dancing repertoire.

Work among the rural sections of the state with the idea of helping the farm wives was one of the main subjects stressed in the programs, said Mrs. Downs in speaking of the sessions last night. This is a new direction for the club's activities to be pursued. Heretofore the work of the federation along every line has been largely concerned with the women of the cities. By emphasizing the canning clubs and similar agencies, the federation hopes to assist the country wife to enjoy a better social life and live her up with the great progressive movements that are being promoted by the club women of the nation.

Mrs. J. L. Landrum, who is supervisor of the Home Economic clubs of the girls of the state, and in charge of the club exhibits at the Cotton Palace, was present at one session and gave a report on her work.

Sanitation, as a matter for consideration by the various organizations was presented by Mrs. E. L. Darwin, state sanitarian, who has been spending several weeks in this city recently.

The most spirited debate during the convention was caused by the introduction of a resolution to endorse women's suffrage, Mrs. Downs said. She went on to explain that the sharp division of opinion was not on the question of suffrage itself but on the advisability of receiving the formal endorsement of the federation. However, the resolution was easily put and carried by an overwhelming majority. Heretofore political and religious subjects have been uniformly eschewed by the federation, but a new charter is now under formation which will be more liberal and permit of the federation co-operating with the other women's organizations by endorsing their work, whether political or not.

A new element was introduced into the federation meeting when a negro, representing an orphan asylum at Abilene, was permitted by the executive committee to address the meeting. The speaker made a plea for assistance of the women's organizations in different movements launched for the betterment of the negro race, and particularly for the orphan asylum. This is the first time that a negro ever spoke before the convention.

Because in the growth in musical organization, the musical members of the federation decided at the Brownwood meeting to organize a separate organization to be known as the Texas Federation of Musical clubs. Mrs. Downs stated that the fine arts program of the annual federation convention would be given by the musical members as usual.

Puckett Will Go to Dallas Meeting Embalmers' Board

L. C. Puckett, president of the state board of embalmers, will leave today for Dallas, where he will attend the semi-annual meeting for the examination of applicants for licenses as funeral directors and embalmers which will be held in that city Tuesday and Wednesday. C. N. Humason of Lukin is secretary.

About twenty applications have been filed. The number is considerably less than the total passed upon at the meeting held during last May at Fort Worth. At that time there were fifty applicants. The next meeting will be held during May, 1916, at Houston.

Besides President Puckett and Secretary Humason, other members of the board are George Loudermilk, Dallas; Sid Westheimer, Houston, and A. A. Zizik, San Antonio.

Dr. A. J. Barton Is Threatened With Typhoid In Dallas

Dr. A. J. Barton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, is in the Baptist sanitarium at Dallas threatened with typhoid fever. The attending physician will not make an exact pronouncement as to his ailment until today. A telephone conversation by Dr. Barton's family here with the attending physician yesterday afternoon revealed the fact that his fever was 102 and that he was resting very well. He has been ill since last Monday but the physician says his condition was such a week prior to that time that the patient should have taken his bed.

Mrs. Barton is slightly ill, too, but as soon as she is able she will go to Dallas to attend her husband.
